Roller fabric guide

Choosing a roller that's right for the paint being used and the surface being painted is critical to getting a quality finish. Here's the key information on each fabric to help you make the best choice.

EMULSION & EGGSHELL

Ice Fusion

Woven fabric that has virtually zero pile shed, requiring no pre-washing before use, and gives a market-leading finish comparable with spray equipment.

Medium pile Microfibre

Woven synthetic fibres that have superior paint loading to other fabrics. Releases paint evenly to give smooth delivery and a high quality finish.

Acrylic

Woven synthetic fabric with a good balance of performance and cost and suitable for many surface types. ProDec's biggest selling fabric for emulsion and masonry paints.

Polyamide

Woven synthetic fabric engineered for ultra toughness making it ideal for masonry and other rough surfaces where its superior durability means it will last longer than other rollers.

Sheepskin

Top quality natural merino wool that absorbs paint well, giving superb loading and release for a high quality finish with a wide range of paint types and surfaces.

Polyester

Knitted synthetic fabric that gives lower performance than woven fabrics but is cost effective. High density polyester gives entry level trade performance, medium density polyester gives a DIY finish quality.

GLOSS & SATIN

Flocked Foam

Very short pile synthetic fibres which leave no roller pattern in the paint film. Gives a mirror-like finish with gloss, satin and clear coats that is superior to all other fabrics.

Foam

Synthetic foam that combines cost effectiveness with zero pile shed and gives a smooth finish with low or zero orange peel. High density foam is trade quality, low density foam is DIY quality.

Simulated Mohair

Classic decorator's glossing fabric that blends natural and synthetic woven mohair fibres, giving zero pile shed and virtually no roller marks for a superior trade finish. Also suitable for low viscosity woodcare products.

Short pile Microfibre

Synthetic fibres that are softer than all other woven fabrics enables microfibre to be used with gloss as it leaves no roller marks. Also gives higher paint loading than other glossing fabrics.

SOLVENT BASED

Nylon

Woven synthetic fabric that has good solvent resistant properties, making it ideal for gloss, satin, woodstains and other solvent-based products including resin and epoxy paints.

"The closest thing I've seen to a spray finish from a roller"

ProDec
ADVANCE

Ice Fusion features Fused Fibre Technology™ - an advanced polymer blend of interwoven fibres that gives ultra-smooth contact and release for market-leading finish quality.

- Lint free fabric - no washing out required before use
- Foil sealed airtight clip-close bag keeps paint wet overnight
- Suitable for emulsion paints on smooth and semi-smooth surfaces
